Director's Message

I am happy to note that the 1st Annual Conference on Gynaecological Endoscopy (AIAGECON 2026), being hosted at AIIMS Raipur, under the aegis of the AIIMS Association of Gynaecological Endoscopists (AIAGE).

AIIMS Raipur is committed to excellence in patient care, academics, and research, and the organization of this national conference reflects our continued dedication to advancing minimally invasive gynaecological surgery. Gynaecological endoscopy has transformed modern practice by enabling precise diagnosis, reduced morbidity, and faster recovery, thereby improving outcomes and quality of life for women.

This conference has been thoughtfully designed to provide a comprehensive academic platform through live surgical demonstrations, hands-on workshops, panel discussions, and interactive scientific sessions, led by eminent national experts. It offers a valuable opportunity for clinicians, trainees, and young surgeons to update their knowledge, refine surgical skills, and engage with evolving evidence-based practices in endoscopic surgery.

I commend the efforts of the organizing team led by Dr. Sarita Agrawal for curating a rich and meaningful scientific program. I am sanguine that this conference will foster academic exchange, professional collaboration, and innovation, while contributing significantly to the growth of gynaecological endoscopy in our country.
